

Newsletter N°1

27 Oct. 89

Welcome to our new newsletter!

The aim of this newsletter is to keep us all in touch with each other. It is our newsletter so please use it to tell others of meetings in your area, picnics, birthday parties etc.

It is hoped that the newsletter (however small) will be a weekly publication. Of course, every one is invited to join in and contribute pieces. Any articles from newspapers etc. that maybe of interest to the collective are welcome. Read a good book or watched a good video lately? Why not write a short review on it?

If for some reason you are unable to attend Burwood on a regular basis to hear all the news, why not leave some stamped self-address envelopes and we can send this newsletter to you.

DIWALI PUJA

Diwali Puja will be held at Burwood this Sunday evening (29th October). Please be there at 7.30 for an 8pm start. The reason for such a late start is the commencement of daylight saving.

FREE TRIP TO INDIA

Queensland Sahaja Yogis are offering a trip to India as the prize in their raffle. Tickets are $25.00 each. If you are feeling lucky contact Prue Page on 331 2462. Most ashram leaders have been sent books of tickets as well. Prue has more details on the draw date.

COOL BREEZE UPDATE

Martin McHugh is the coordinator for all subscriptions to the American Cool Breeze. As Martin is about to depart Sydney for more tropical surroundings all future queries concerning Cool Breeze should be sent to the following address .. Cool Breeze,

CHRISTMAS CONCERT PARTY

Highly talented people (groups or singles) are required to contact Sue Raggatt (642 5221). Comedy acts, jugglers, tap dancers and magicians are preferable but if you can mime a song or do a one act play thats o.k. Please call me so we can organise a fun night before everyone goes to India. Concert Party Night 1st December.

LADIES NIGHT

A night for the ladies is being planned. A date has not been set - that will depend on the response. Carol Henson, a professional wardrobe and colour consultant, often gives talks to non profit organisations and fund raising nights. She talks on wardrobe planning and making the most of outfits for the least amount of money. Her advice on fabrics and textures is a benefit to home sewers. There should be something for every one. It is anticipated the night will cost $7 per person and is a great way to bring friends to Burwood. The date has not been set but it may be a Monday night towards the end of November.

Will ladies interested in coming along please sign the list at the front door notice board so we can monitor the interest.
